New look new you The best of the spring 2010 trends

I love this time of year when the sales are finally coming to an end and the stores are filed with exciting new garments. This spring doesn't disappoint and whilst it would be wonderful to go crazy and buy a whole new wardrobe for most of us that is just not possible.

There are a plethora of trends to choose from this season but for me the two most important are the new nude colours and beautiful frills that adorned nearly every catwalk show.

Nude soft pastel shades are wonderfully easy to wear and suit nearly all colourings, I've added some of my favourite pieces from the high street below, you don't need to spend a fortune, simply incorporate the colour into your wardrobe through fun new accessories.

Clients often ask me how they can add more femininity to their wardrobe, ruffles are a perfect and simple way to do this, why not update your favourite pair of jeans with a gorgeous frill front knit or blouse? Stylish, simple and utterly chic!

Until next time....

Happy shopping!
